The AI Photo Editing Guide for 2026

A good AI edit starts with a clear request: what should change, what must stay the same and how big the picture should be. This guide covers a plan for your edit, prompts for the most common edits, which size to pick, and a checklist before you share.

Plan your edit

Fill in these lines before you start. Then put them in one sentence in the chat box.

The picture to edit
What should change
What must stay the same
A reference picture (a face, a product, a style)
Where it will be used
Size to pick

Ask for one change at a time. Each result can be edited again.

Which size to pick

Size	Use it for
Original size	Keeping the shape of your photo, so nothing is cut off
Square (1:1)	Profile pictures, product listings and feed posts
Story (9:16)	Stories, reels and phone wallpapers
Wide (16:9)	Banners, slides and video covers
Portrait (3:4) or Poster (2:3)	Portraits, posters and prints
Standard (4:3) or Photo (3:2)	Camera photos and listings

Prompts that work

- Background. "Put this person on a quiet beach at sunset and keep their face, hair and clothes the same."
- Colour. "Make the red jacket navy blue and keep everything else in the photo the same."
- Add an object. "Add a glass vase of yellow tulips in the middle of the empty wooden table."
- Remove an object. "Remove the people in the background and keep the building the same."
- Art style. "Turn this street photo into a soft watercolour painting with the same buildings and people."
- Light. "Make this living room brighter, like a sunny morning."
- Product. "Put this handbag on a plain white background with a soft shadow under it."
- Transparent. "Remove the background and make it transparent." The picture downloads as PNG.

Quick fixes without AI

- Convert PNG, JPG and WebP into each other, with a quality setting for JPG and WebP.
- Crop, rotate and flip to fix the frame of a photo.
- Resize to a new width or height. The shape is kept.
- Annotate with a pen, arrows, boxes and text.

These tools run in your browser. Nothing is uploaded.

- Faces, hands and eyes look natural.
- Any writing in the picture is still correct.
- Nothing important was cut off at the edges.
